Konpira Hotspring Town is in Kotohira-cho, which was historically the booming front-gate area of Kotohiragu Shrine. This shrine is affectionately known as Konpira-san, and is where Omono-nushi, the God of the Ocean, resides. The town is formed of hotels and inns that offer hotsprings. There are many levels of accommodation, from large-scale family-oriented hotels to fancy traditional inns. In most facilities there are outdoor hotspring baths, but if you want to enjoy the hotsprings in a private environment, make sure to choose a facility that has private baths. In the town, you will find souvenir shops, restaurants and bars, all focused on Kotohiragu. There are also Foot Hotspring Spas, where you can rest fully clothed with your feet in the soothing waters, concentrated in the town area. You will find the feeling of Japan from the good old days.
