Facility Introduction

This way station is located on National Route 32, along a mountain pass called Momi-ki-Toge, named after the momi fir trees that grow in abundance here.

The Chunan area is where Ninomiya Chuhachi, one of the grandfathers of aviation, was the first in the world to come up with the basic principles of flight. In the nearby Ninomiya Chuhachi Aviation Hall, there is a to-scale replica of his original jewel-beetle plane.

At the Chunan Market, fresh local vegetables and fruit are for sale, not to mention jams made from local fruit, and rice.

At the diner, you can order the Takedori Lunch, which changes daily but is always made from freshly harvested seasonal local ingredients. There is also udon or soba with Manno-cho's Himawari-gyu beef, and a set lunch featuring udon or soba with locally produced bamboo shoots.

The unique ice cream, which included the local specialty sunflower's seeds and petals, is very popular.
